THE PEN AND THE ALBUM.... BY W. M. THACKERAY. "I am Miss Catharine's book," the Album speaks:

"I've lain among your tomes these many weeks-I'm tired of their old coats and yellow cheeks. Quick, Pen! and write a line with a good grace ; Come! draw me off a funny little face ; And, Prithee, send me back to Cesham Place."

I'm my master's faithful old Gold Pen; I've served him three long years, and drawn since the Thousands of funny women and droll men. O Album could I tell you all his ways And thoughts, since I am his, these thousand days, Lord! how your pretty pages I'd amaze!

ALBUM. His ways? his thoughts? Just whisper me a few; Tell me a curious anecdote or two, And write 'em quickly off, good Mordan, do!

Since he my faithful service did engage To follow him through his queer pilgrimage, I've drawn and written many a line and page. Caricatures I have, and rhymes And dinner-cards, and pictures pantomimes; And merry little children's books at times.

I've writ the foolish fancy of his brain; The aimless jest that, striking, hath caused pain; The idle word that he'd wish back again. I've helped him to pen many a line for bread; To joke, with sorrow aching in his head;

And make your laughter when his own heart bled. I've spoke with men of all degree and sort-Peers of the land and ladies of the Court. Oh, but I've chronicled a deal of sport!

Feasts that were ate a thousand days ago, Biddings to wine that flong hath ceased to flow, Gay meetings good fellows long laid low; Summons to bridal, banquet, burial, ball, Tradesman's polite reminders of his small Accounts due Christmas last-I've answered all. Poor Diddler's tenth petition for a half Guinea; Miss Bunyan's for an autograph;

So I refuse, accept, lament, or laugh. Condole, congratulate, invite, praise, scoff, Day after day still dipping in my trough, And scribbling pages after pages off.

Day after day the labor's to be done, And sure as comes the postman and the sun. The indefatigable ink must run.

Go back, my pretty little gilded tome, To a fair mistress and a pleasant home, Where soft hearts greet us whensoe'er we came! Dear, friendly eyes, with constant kindness lit, However rude my verse, or poor my wit, Or sad or gay my mood, you welcome it.

Kind lady! till my last of lines is penned, My master's love, grief, laughter, at an end, Whene'er I write your name, may I write friend! Not all are so that were so in past years: Voices, familiar once, no more he bears! Names, often writ and blotted out in tears.

So be it-joys will end and tears will dry-Album! my master bids me wish good-by, He'll send you to your mistress presently. And then with thankful heart he closes you : Blessing the happy hour when a triend he knew

So gentle, and so generous, and so true, Nor pass the words as idle phrases by, Stranger, I never write a flattery, Nor signed the page that registered a lie.

FOREIGN NEWS BY THE ASIA.

England-The ministry was defeated on Thursday night upon the question of the house tax, which, it was generally understood, was to decide the fate of the budget and of the administration .-Mr. D'Israeli, the chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech of nearly three hours duration, and characterised by a more than usual degree of bitter sarcasm, vindicated his propositions, contending that during the whole debate he had heard no arguments which successfully impugned his policy, and urging again upon the House the necessity of enlarging the basis of direct taxation.

There was a majority of nineteen against the government, and the House adjourned until Mon-The Standard says that eighty-two Irish members voted-thirty for the ministers and fifty-two against them. In the House of Lords, the Earl of Malmesbury begged to move the adjournment of the House till Monday; announcing that, in consequence of the turn matters had taken in the House of Commons, on the preceding night, the Prince Minister had gone to see her Majesty, at Osborne. A cabinet council had been held. The Earl of Derby was to proceed to Osborne without loss o'

France-Prince Napoleon, son of the ex-King of Westphalia, who is to have the place and title of Lieutenant of the Emperor in Algeria, is already occupied in forming the personnel of his administration. It was rumored in political circles that the Prince has expressed a wish that an offer of the Army should be made to General de Lamoriciere or General Changarnier-and to his proposition it is said the Emperor has acceded. This was mentioned last night by one of the favorite Generals of the Emperor, and therefore I am inclined to believe that it is not altogether destitute of foundation .--It appears that there is no intention of designating Napoleon Bonaparte as the successor of the Emperor in the event of his having no direct male issue. The friends of Prince de Caning assert that the choice of the Emperor has fallen on his son Joseph, who is 19 years of age, and is now in Rome. this be the fact, it is probable that the Pope has had a share in the efforts to bring about this decission. The Moniteur publishes a flourishing account of the finances, but it has not produced a great effect at the Bourse. What it states of the improvement of the revenue is undoubtedly true, but it is silent as to the reckless increase in the expenditure.

Italy-Four persons have been sentenced to be hung at Mantua, for their connection with the revolutionary societies. The Pope has expressed his gratification at the establishment of the Empire, and he will visit France to crown Louis Napoleon.

The correspondent of the Debate, writing from Naples, on the 29th ult., reports the discovery of a conspiracy against the King's life, which was to have been carried out on the 8th of December .-An infernal machine had been seized and many arrests had been made.

Spain .- This country still continues on the verge of a revolution.

The accounts from Madrid are of the 11th inst. The Duke of Valentia returned from Aranjuez the evening before and left in the night for Bayonne, The Bank of San Fernando had advanced the Government the funds necessary for the wants of the State. Gen. Narvaez had received orders not to take Paris on his way to Vienna, or, if he does so, that he is not to remain more than twenty-four hours in the French Capital. His expulsion is the work of Queen Christiana, who had not forgiven his refusal, when Minister, to propose to the Cortes to raise her children by Munoz to the dignity of Princess and Princesses of the blood. The Cape War .- The war is not yet closed .-The Kaffirs, though repeatedly attacked, dispersed, pursued, and killed in great numbers, are neither as yet reduced to submission, nor driven across the Kei. To the terms of unconditional surrender, insisted upon by Gen. Cathcart, they have evinced indisputable repugnance.

NASHVILLE, TENN.

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 13.

GOV. CAMPBELL'S DECLENSION. We copy from the Banner, of yesterday, the following letter from Gov. CAMPBELL, in which that gentleman declines the honor of another nomination for Governor. This declension will cause some disappointment among the whigs of Tennessee, whose generally expressed wish seemed to be that Gov. Campbell should bear their colors in a second fight. The Governor, however, acknowledges the force of precedents and wisely avoids the certain defeat which awaits the whig candidate in the next canvass. The choice, now, of course, will fall upon some gentleman who places a higher estimate than Gov. Campbell does upon the honor of being defeated. That such a gentleman will be found, we entertain as little doubt as we do of the fate that awaits him. Our opponents have a number of cheerfully rally around an East or West Tennessee prominent men whose "weak ambition" would be gratified by a mere nomination. Those who desire more than a nomination will magnanimously defer their claims for the present :

NASHVILLE, Jan. 5, 1853. Gen. Zollicoffer :- The frequent and unexpected calls that have been made upon me through the newspapers to become a candidate for re-election, require that I should at once make known to the the office of Governor.

The reasons which have impelled me to this conclusion are of a personal character, and with which the public would have but little concern. But I will state that my private affairs, together with the welfare and happiness of my family, now large and entirely dependent upon my personal exertions for support and education, demand from me my devoted and undivided attention.

It is well known to many of my friends that I not only reluctantly consented to become a candidate at the last election, but that I then declared that I would not run a second time. The success which has attended my efforts, in connection with those of the whig party in our State has satisfied me for the sacrifice I then made, and I shall ever remember, with grateful pride, the kindness and confidence of my fellow-citizens, regretting only that I have not accomplished more in advancing their prosperity, their glory, and their happiness. Among the many honest and talented men with which the whig party abounds, one can be selected who will lead us to victory in the approaching contest, and who will serve the State more advantageously than I can hope to do. For the generous support you, sir, and the whig press of our State have given me, I tender my sincere acknowledgments.

W. B. CAMPBELL.

Commodore Morgan died in Washington on the evening of the day on which the resolution was offered by Mr. Hale, of N. H., in the Senate of the United States, to enquire into his conduct, in certain particulars, as Commodore of the Mediteranean Squadron. The coincidence is striking.

SHOCKING MURDER.-Some of the boys of Baltimore are divided into two feuds under the names of "Bloats" and "Sheep Boys." Last Monday evening, between eight and nine o'clock, one of the "Sheep Boys" was shot dead by one of the "Bloats" congregated in the street.

The permanent debt of New York city, redeemable at different periods from 1856 to 1889, amounts to $13,885,859-from which $4,175,345 is to be deducted for amount in sinking fund.

THE FLOOD .- The Brookville (Ind.) American says that the damage to the Whitewater canal, from Harrison to Cambridge, will amount to $100 .-000. The same paper says:

The damage to individuals in various ways, on both branches of the river, cannot be less than $600,000. Not in this do we include the loss which the valley will lose in the decrease in the price of produce. The loss to citizens of Brookville is not less than $40,000. The entire loss of the canal. and of individual losses, and the depreciation of corn and wheat, and the loss of time in repairing mills, farms, &c., will not be less than $1,500,000 to the Whitewater valley. The damage to the soil of the farms is at least $100,000.

TRAGICAL AFFAIR IN LIMA-ARREST OF AN AMERI-CAN .- A letter from Lima, Peru, in the New York Herald, states that Mr. Throne, a son of Colonel Throne, the New York millionaire, has been arrested in that city, charged with stabbing, it is feared fatally, a Frenchman. It appears that Mrs. Throne was attached to the Italian opera company there, and that a controversy had sprung up between the Italian opera company and a Spanish company. On one occasion the latter company was driven from the stage by a mob of young men, who proceeded to the house of Mrs. Throne, placed her in a coach and carried her in procession through the streets, with bands and lighted torches, by way of showing their indignation at certain attacks made upon her style of singing, through the columes of the Correo. This paper, the next day, renewed its attacks in a more violent manner, which induced Mr. Throne to inflict personal chastisement upon the editor, but unfortunately, in the melee he stabbed an unoffending Frenenman, for which he was immediately arrested.

The Pittsburg Intelligencer states, "upon au thority not to be questioned," that the schoone Advance, which was captured at Port Praya (the Azore islands) by the United States sloop-of-war Germantown, and which has just been sent into Norfolk for adjudication, was manned with a crew of free blacks, and was actually fitted in the goodly port of New York.

GOVERNORSHIP.

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 10, 1853. MR. Epiron:-The time is approaching when the democracy of Tennessee will have to select a standard bearer for the Gubernatorial canvass. It should be the duty of every true democrat to throw aside all personal favoritism and unite upon a candidate who bears about him the elements of success. The desire to reward friends for the performance of duty, has too often been a dead weight upon our party. This should be thrown aside in doubtful contests .-If we are defeated, let it be by "the opposition" and not by our own misguided action. Tennessee must be redeemed, and will be, if the democrats but do their duty. One of the initiatory steps to success is. the selection of a suitable candidate. We should not look to the gratification of sectional pride, unless we felt certain that we could thereby secure the election of our nominee. The "storm beaten" and "battle tried" democracy of Old Bedford would man, if selected by the wisdom of a convention, but they war not for East, West or Middle Tennessee, they fight for the success of their principles. All we ask is a candidate, who will insure the success of those principles. We want a bold, energetic and determined representative of the great principles of our party, as fearless to act upon them as he is to express them, and who has battled for and defended them in the hour of need. We want one who dispeople of our State, in some public manner, my determination not to be a candidate for re-election to imagined to be conservatism) and who is not afraid imagined to be conservatism) and who is not afraid of his own shadow, or slinks away into conservative insignificance at the slightest snarl of the English Lion: but who, upon all occasions, stands proudly forward, as the representative of a brave, hardy and intelligent people, proud of being American Free-

Such a man is Col. Joseph G. Pickett, of Smith county. His nomination would be hailed in Old Bedford with an enthusiasm unparralleled in the history of politics in Tennessee.

I do not speak unadvisedly, for I have taken some trouble to find out the sentiments of the democracy

Col. Pickett is a man of popular manners, and a bold, free and eloquent debater; in fact he is undoubtedly the ablest stump speaker in the democratic ranks in Tennessee. His age may be objected to. (He is I believe about 33 or 35 years old,) but he has brains and intellect enough to make him an old man, He combines within himself the undoubted elements of success. With him as our standard bearer in the coming contest, success will be certain.

His popularity is not confined to any particular section, but wherever he has been heard upon the "stump" or known personally, he is popular. The able and efficient manner in which he did his duty in the last hard-fought canvass, calls for the highest encomiums. As evidence of his popularity, we have only to look at the large gain made at the last election, in his Electoral District; more particularly in his own county. Let the convention nominate him, and "Joe Pickett" will be the next Governer of Tennessee. Place out, early in the canvass, our Pickett Guards and then do our duty, and Tennessee will stand "redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled." A BEDFORD DEMOCRAT.

VERILY THEY WAX BETTER AND BETTER.-We learn from the New Orleans Delta that wax figures of Calhoun and his son are exhibiting there. A young man, who had been greatly pleased with the exhibition, went, and after gazing upon the corpse for some time, put his hand into his pocket and drew out four bits, which he gave to the wax representation of young Calhoun, thinking him an attendant of the room. "There," said he, as he put the money down, "don't look so melancholy-its Christmas times-take the money, go down and take something," and so left the room. After a while he returned, and seeing the same man still in a melancholy mood, and the untouched money lying on the bed, he exclaimed, "what! not satisfied here's two bits more," and left the room. This being told to the proprietor, he sought the young man, and told him of his mistake. He was, perhaps, a little annoyed at being so sold, but he was not to be done out of his Christmas good feeling. He would not take the money back, but ordered it to be given to the first poor woman who might come

Washington, Jan. 8 .- The inauguration of the Jackson statue was an imposing spectacle. Business was suspended in the Executive Departments and both houses of Congress had adjourned to attend to its preparation. The various civil and military associations of the district and several military companies from Baltimore, besides many strangers from a distance, participated in the affair.

FROM HAVANA.-The U. S. mail steamship Empire City, from New Orleans December 26th and Havana December 29th, arrived at this port yesterday. The political news from Havana is of no importance, but she brings the intelligence that the small pox was prevailing to a fearful extent at Havana. It is estimated that there were nearly two thousand cases of the disease while the Empire City was in port .- New York Courier.

WE will sell at the Court-House door at 11 o'clock, on SATURDAY, 15th inst., a very desirable LOT in Edgefield, fronting 195 feet on Bell street, running back 240, The Gazette contains a critique upon Mrs. Bostwick. As a specimen of his style, we copy the following extracts:

The prevailing characteristic of Mrs. Bostwick's voice is sweetness. It is soft rather than rich. more smooth than varied and brilliant. It possesses no great compass, but is perfect within its sphere, which the handsome singer knows is a limited one, and which she observes with great taste and self-

In fact, she sings rather with art than with passion. She takes no powerful possession of the mind, and, having heard her once, we rest satisfied with the pleasure, feeling no irresistable desire to seek a repetition of the enjoyment. She attempts nothing realy great, and, therefore, it may be said. that she never entirely fails. In appearance and style, she resembles Mad. Anna Bishop more nearly than any other public singer. Many of the lower notes of her voice are strikingly akin to the latter. She has less action and confidence in self, less playful beauty but more softness and cultivation than Madame Bishop. She has nothing in com-mon with Parodi or Lind. Mrs. Bostwick, however, is not dependent upon a comparison with these for her excellence or praise. She cannot be said to be an imitator of any one.
